ABOUT KRAB

Listener supported KRAB radio will soon be moving into a new home. Old fire station 25 is to be renovated by Historic Seattle Preservation and Development Authority. KRAB will vacate the building by the end of August and (we hope) begin broadcasting from a new location the first part of September.

Moving a radio station is a tremendous project. And KRAB is going to need all the help it can get. If you can offer any assistance call the station at 325-5110.

Complete details of the move and a complete wrap up of the last few months will be part of the July guide (CPB, IRS, NPR, etc)-

KRAB will continue to represent the best of the alternatives, whether it's community issues, arts, drama, news, ethnic programs, music or specials. Through a matter of course, KRAB will continue to represent the interests of all it's listeners.

KRAB is mostly a volunteer station (i.e.: a majority of the programs are produced by volunteers. Although the money pays the bills, it's the people that keep KRAB going. People that have an honest dedication to alternative radio and the freedom that comes with it.

With the combination of subscriptions and people KRAB can expand and strengthen the foundations that have made it your radio station. The people at KRAB want to explore and experiment beyond the standard boundaries. You can be a part of that expansion---call us at 325-5110.

This month KRAB will rebroadcast highlights from the Childbirth Education Association International Conference, held in Seattle last June. Libby Sinclair produced these programs which will appear throughout the month and are designated in the guide thus:

The Northwest Women's Action Conference held at the University of Washington in April convened to address the problems facing the Equal Rights Amendment both federal and state. Suzanne Palmer and Sally Covert, "Womenspeak", cover special events of feminist interest such as NWAC for KRAB listeners.

Betty Friedan, Gloria Stienem, Warren Farrell, and Gov. Ray are a few of the nationally known people "Womenspeak" has taped for KRAB--and local people including Rita Shaw (Washington State ERA Coalition) and Shirley Kaplan (Seattle's Shelter for Battered Women) were interviewed in the KRAB studios.

In future news programs, "Womenspeak" will continue to keep you informed on feminist news nationwide--Equal Rights Amendment Up-date, Women in Trade Unions, Childcare, Women and Religion, Displaced Homemakers, Protective Legislation, Violence against Women, and much more.

"Womenspeak" is produced by the Everett Chapter of NOW with a lot of help from NOW chapters throughout Washington and the National NOW office in Washington D.C.

8:00 NEW GAMES
When people think of games, they often remember when they lost or were eliminated or rejected from the group. They also associate games with childhood, because most adults no longer play children's games, but social games. This program encourages people of all ages to play in a no-win/no-lose atmosphere. The main focus of such games is structured spontaneous fun using few or no props. We can even play games over the radio. Dean Petrich teaches you how to play "prui", caterpillar, singing syllables, and more ---as well as discussing some of the theories behind games.

9:00 TUESDAY NIGHT LIVE: USTAD ZIA MOHIUDDIN DAGAR
A concert of North Indian classical music in the Dhrupad style. Dagar belongs to a legendary family of vocal artists from Udaipur in Rajasthan. He will perform on the Rudra Vina, with tambura accompaniment.
